STATE HIGHWAY DEPT. NOW ENGAGED IN ANNUAL SPRING ROADSIDE CLEAN-UP

The State Highway Department's annual spring roadside clean-up campaign is under way and most of the work should be completed before the beginning of Garden Week April 21.

This year the Department's clean-up drive was undertaken in cooperation with the Virginia Anti-Litterbug Council which includes the Highway Department, other state agencies, civic groups and private organizations interested in keeping Virginia highways clean.

A. B. Burton, Lynchburg, chairman of the anti-litterbug group, has announced the council's plans for a spring campaign April 10 to 20.

State highway forces will give the roadsides their spring cleaning.

Picking up papers, bottles, tin cans and other rubbish within the right of way is a continuing operation for the department, but a thorough cleaning follows winter snow and rain which pack trash to the earth, break shrubs on roadsides, and splatter highway signs and poles with mud.

Many signs and posts are in for a good soap and water scrubbing, others will get new paint and some that have been damaged will have to be replaced.

Highway maintenance forces expect to complete the clean-up job on the 49,000-mile highway system by the time Garden Week brings thousands of visitors especially to see the beauties of the state, and sends more thousands of Virginians to other communities where homes and gardens will be open to the public from April 21 to 28.

SCHOOL HAS WHISTLE

Green Bay, Wis.- Instead of the traditional school bell, students at the Franklin Junior High School don't listen for a bell, because there isn't an. Instead, the school uses a steam whistle, which school engineer George Bandy has made from an automobile exhaust pipe. It can be heard for two miles.

Around Your Home

If you haven't yet discovered the many things plastic utility bags can do for you, it's high time to get acquainted with them.

Moisture doesn't go through plastic film—thus dry foods stay dry and moist foods keep moist. What's more, you can see through most plastic films and know what is inside.

Here are a few ways to use plastic bags to help you in the kitchen:

Store opened boxes of sugar and salt in bags—tops of plastic bags that are held at the top by paper clips.

Store opened packages of frozen foods in the same kind of plastic bag in your freezing compartment or home freezer.

Foods with strong odors should be stored in plastic bags that zip tightly to keep their odors from affecting butter and similar foods in your refrigerator.

Meat stored in plastic bags does not dry out as quickly as otherwise and stays fresh longer.

You can keep a loaf of bread moist and fresh for as long as a week if kept in a plastic bag.

The usefulness of these plastic bags doesn't end in the kitchen — use them to store your off-season items in.

Plastic bags are perfect to store woolens in. Put moth crystals inside the bag and make sure the bag is closed tightly. As an extra precaution sun the items before you store them in the bag.

If sealed very tightly with tape, silver can be kept for long periods and tarnish free.

Keep your dampened laundry in a plastic bag for a couple of hours. The water will be distributed evenly through the clothes and will be easier to iron.

As you learn to use these versatile plastic bags, you will find many more personal uses for them than the ones I have listed.

Health and Beauty

It is estimated that common colds are the underlying cause of more time lost from work than any other. People who are perfectly healthy do not take cold readily. Lowered vitality frequently lays the ground work for colds. Resistance is lowered by getting the body chilled. This is particularly true in the autumn, when the weather changes suddenly.

Do not think lightly of colds. They may result in influenza, pneumonia, or other dangerous diseases, because the defenses of the body are lowered, and the victim readily succombs to other germs or viruses than those of colds.

It is well to avoid people who have colds, for colds certainly are contagious. Sometimes all the children in a school are exposed to the germs, because some child who is suffering from a cold is sent to school, when he should be kept at home. If your child catches cold, put him to bed, give a light diet, plenty of fruit juices, and two doses of quinine, each three grains, three hours apart. Repeat for several days, if necessary.

When the diet is nourishing, it builds the forces of the body, and increases its resistance to disease; consequently one does not take cold easily.

A varied diet consisting of meat, eggs, whole grain foods, and vegetables, is necessary, especially the raw fruit and vegetable salads. A tonic containing iron and quinine is an old standby, and a good one. It helps to build the hemoglobin, and improves the appetite.

SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICIAL TELLS OF RETIREMENT REGULATIONS OF LAW

"You don't have to retire completely to start drawing your social security benefits after age 65," according to J. W. Dinwiddie, district manager of the Lynchburg social security office.

The manager explained that the 1954 Amendments to the Social Security Act permit earnings up to $1200 in a calendar year before any benefits are lost even if you work in all months of the year.

Even if you earn more than $1,200, some payments can be made if your total earnings for the year are not over $2,080. Moreover, you do not lose a benefit for any month in which you do not earn more than $80 in employment or do not render substantial services in self-employment, regardless of the amount of your earnings in other months of the year.

Mr. Dinwiddie pointed out that this provision enables the worker to take a part time job or one involving less responsibility. In this way, he can keep busy and at the same time supplement his social security benefits. He suggests that when the time for retirement comes, every worker read the easy-to-understand leaflet, "Facts About Earnings." While Receiving Payments," which is available upon request at any social security office. It will tell you exactly how your benefits will be affected if you continue to work.

"Better still," he said, "come to our office and we will be glad to discuss your particular problem with you in person." The Lynchburg social security district office is located at Room 302, Post Office Building, Lynchburg, Va.

NEWS from HOLLYWOOD

Rock Hudson and Henry Ginsberg, production executive, have formed a corporation to make motion pictures. The new firm will come into being after the expiration of Rock's current contract with Universal - International. Rock, at the present time, is busy at work in Edna Ferber's novel, "Giant," to be released by Warner Brothers.

The script of the screen version of "Tea and Sympathy," which is scheduled to go before the cameras in April, is being given some final polishing by playright Robert Anderson.

One hundred $10,000 bills were displayed in the lobby of a New York movie house when the film, "Meet Me in Las Vegas" was shown. Wonder how many people had ever seen $1,000,000, all in one place at one time, before.

Sidney Chaplin, one of the sons of comedian Charlie Chaplin, has signed a two-picture contract with Universal - International. One of his films will be a leading role with George Nader in "Star Light, Star Bright," formerly called "The Pest."

Margaret Hayes will be featured as the wife of the Shah of Persia in Paramount's production, "Omar Khayam." Cornell Wilde, Trevor Howard, Raymond Massey and Debra Paget will also appear in the film.

Now that the Academy Oscars have been awarded and "Marty," the Hollywood "sleeper" walked off with practically all the prizes, we wonder if it will convince producers and the movie industry as a whole that the public will support —with cash—simple, wholesome, good moving pictures? We thought last years prize-winning "The Country Girl," with Grace Kelly might accomplish the same end, but maybe it's just too much to hope!

As a follow-up to his as yet unreleased "Moby Dick," John Huston has announced that he would film a second Herman Melville novel, "Typee." This is Melville's classic account of his adventures in the South Seas. Gregory Peck, who was the Captain Ahab of "Moby Dick," is wanted by Huston for the central character in the new Melville picture.

Postwar Germany is the setting of James McGovern's new novel, "Fraulein," which Twentieth Century-Fox plans to film this year. The story paints a broad picture of the moral collapse of the German people as seen through the eyes of a young German girl.

Fred MacMurray and Jeffrey Hunter will be co-starred in "Gun for a Coward," at Universal - International.

Sir Lawrence Olivier has agreed to join Burt Lancaster and Montgomery Clift in the film version of "The Devil's Disciple," by George Bernard Shaw. He will have the role of Burgoyne.

Barbara Stanwyck and Joel McCrea will co-star in "Trooper Hook." Filming is scheduled for next September.

OF INTEREST TO VETERANS

Veterans in rural areas seeking GI home loans who are turned down by local lenders should apply direct to Veterans Administration regional offices rather than to Voluntary Home Mortgage Credit Program (VHMCP) regional committees, VA announced.

This suggestion is made, VA said in order to speed up direct VA loan processing and to set up a priority system for veterans who are unable to secure VA-guaranteed GI loans from private lenders through VHMCP.

Previously, veterans seeking GI loans were being referred direct to VHMCP regional committees so that these committees might be able to assist in securing private GI mortgage financing for World War II and Korean conflict period veterans living in remote areas and small communities.

IN FASHION NOW

From Texas designers come some unusual designs for summer. The first unexpected fashion note is a seersucker dinner dress. It features a stemlike slimness, with big satin sleeve for top interest.

Another lovely number was an embroidered sheath of linen, banded in lace ruffles from shoulder to hem. It was worn with saddle-foot hose and a pair of the new mule type evening shoes in the same shade of toast. Bold white earrings and bracelet completed the outfit.

Dallas designers are introducing the hand-blocked floral prints on silk organza, with matching sheer print coats. Polished cottons, plain or printed, are mated with matching voile coats for a new variation on the theme popular since last year. The low-backed dark linen after five dress has never been so important.

The shirtwaist idea is still news and is being used for clothes for all occasions. Lace-edged collars, shirt fronts that are ornate with ruffles, tucks and lace insertions, plus the added grace of full skirts, make the Dallas-designed shirtwaist a summer fashion with strong appeal.

The stole is being seen with many of the after-five fashions now featuring a duster. The dramatic effect of the stole, coupled with the V-ed back dinner dress, will make a big hit.

MARSHALL - MOORE

Miss Mary Ellen Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walker Clarke Moore, of Appomattox, was married to James Douglas Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Atwell Douglas Marshall, of Spout Spring, Saturday at 3:00 P. M. at the Mount Comfort Methodist Church.

The Rev. Aaron D. Smith officiated at the double-ring ceremony, before an altar of banked greens, with branched candelabra and a basket arrangement of Easter lilies and white gladioli.

Mrs. Dan Harvey, pianist, and Mrs. Harold Stratton, vocalist, presented a program of wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace and net over white satin styled with a fitted bodice, high neckline with scalloped lace collar with sequin embroidery and a floor-length bouffant skirt with panels of lace down the front and back. The circular, bullet-length veil of illusion was attached to a shell cap of lace and sequins. She carried a prayerbook topped with a white orchid and showered with stephanotis.

Miss Sue Moore, cousin of the bride and maid of honor, wore a lavendar dress of net over taffeta. She carried a white cascade bouquet of white carnations centered with Easter lilies and tied with gold bacelon.

Other attendants were Mrs. Malcolm Jordon, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Jo Anne Catlett, cousin of the bride, who wore yellow; Mrs. Fred Weakley and Miss Hazel Cheatham, who wore mint green. They carried bouquets similar to that of the maid of honor, and wore bandeaux to match their dresses.

Wesely Newcomb, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man, and ushers were Harold Martin, Dan Lewis, Harold Stratton, and Malcolm Jordon, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

Margaret Jordon, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl and was dressed in pink. Mark Catlett, cousin of the bride, was ringbearer.

After the ceremony, a reception was held in the social room of the church, which was lighted by candles and decorated with spring flowers. Later the couple left for a wedding trip, and the bride wore a navy suit with matching accessories and an orchid. They will live at 2137 Rivermont Ave., Lynchburg.

The bride and bridegroom are graduates of Appomattox High School. The bride is a graduate of Virginia Baptist Hospital School of Nursing.

The bridegroom served four years in the Navy and is now employed by Craddock Terry Shoe Corp.
